DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments, see Response, filed on 5/06/2005, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-8 under Hashimoto in view of Arita et al. and Konno et al. have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Sitter, Jr. et al. in view of Arita et al.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1, 4, 5, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sitter, Jr. et al. (US 5,680,252) in view of Arita et al. (US 6,493,061).

Regarding claims 1, 4, 5, 8, Sitter, Jr. et al. discloses a surveillance camera system (surveillance cameras, column 1, lines 18-22) comprising a photographing lens system (lens system 10, figure 1, column 2, lines 20-65), a camera body to which said photographing lens system is detachably attached (the lens system 10 is used for different type of cameras, such as camcorder, surveillance cameras, column 1, lines 18-22; therefore, the lens system 10 is detachably attached to camera body), a color imaging device on which an image formed by said photographing lens system is formed is provided (the lens system corrects for imaging and chromatic aberrations, column 1, lines 10-15); the photographing lens system is arranged to correct aberrations (the lens system corrects for imaging and chromatic aberrations, column 1, lines 10-15).

Sitter, Jr. et al. fails to specifically to disclose wherein said photographing lens system is arranged to correct aberrations therein so that the difference between an in-focus position at which the maximum MTF characteristic in a visible light wavelength range of about 400nm to 700nm is obtained and an in-focus position at which the maximum MTF characteristic in a near-infrared light wavelength range of about 700nm to 1000nm is obtained is less than 10  $\mu$ m. However, Arita et al. teaches an imaging apparatus, in which the difference between the focal position of the CCD 11 for visible light and the focal position of CCD 11 in the infrared range is calculated by equation  $L = (1-1/n)d$ , where d is the thickness of the infrared cutout filter (column 11, lines 8-44), it is noted that  $(1-1/n)$  is always smaller than 1, for d less than 10  $\mu$ m, the difference L will be less than 10  $\mu$ m. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device in Sitter, Jr. et al. by the teaching Arita et al. in order to make the focal position of CCD 11 for visible light and the focal position of CCD 11 in the infrared range to be the same position (column 11, lines 22-28). Doing so, a quality image is obtained.

4. Claims 2-3, 6-7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
